

ABSTRACT

Application of Data Stock and Sales Boutique using PHP and Android is a application that used to help the owner to monitoring his sales report in occasionally. This Application used to doing storage transaction management control and sales report in a day. This application created with waterfall method that built in two application, there are website page and android page. Website application built used PHP, MySQL and CodeIgniter Framework, then android application built used JAVA programming language. Website application only can used by on owner, then android application used by the employees.

Functions and features in the website application are employees data management, storage data management, vendor data management, sales transaction, vendor record transaction. Then the android application have different functions like view report, view vendor data, and storage vendor ordering or booking. After the application was built in this step of code programming, then the program had testing used black box testing method.

Keywords: Applications, Data Collection, Sales, Android