

ABSTRACT

Nursing home is a place for the elderly to get treatment, care, and attention. Nursing homes are motivated by several things, one of them must be considered in layout so as not to complicate the elderly in reaching a place that suits their needs everyday. Nearly 60% activity of the elderly used in bedroom for eating, reading, sleeping, and talking with other elderly, which makes the reason this room need a good layout. Specific layout needs of the elderly, because basically the physical abilities of the elderly declined, from the ability of sight, hearing, and others. So, to get some activities require special needs to suit the needs of the elderly. The collection of data obtained through several sources including interviews with the residents and workers, direct field surveys to assist in obtaining a measure to take an elderly in the room, to the literature of books and internet on the needs of the elderly and system layout in a nursing home. This design purpose to be able to design a nursing home with room facilities in accordance with the needs of the elderly in order to make the elderly more productive on the day older, and can make it easier for seniors to apply the system layout and furniture that fit their needs.

Keywords: nursing home, elderly, Tata Layout, interior