

ABSTRACT

ILN is a leading companies in Indonesia that provide best solution in IT and telecommunications. Based on “Information Technology” and “Data Communication”, with considerable experince in the implementation of high performance IT, IT Equipment supplies, Selling Solution in Communication Bussiness, Data Management and Bussines Application for clients throughout the corporate and public sectors.

To face complexity and challenge intensity which progressively the weight, company head claimed to think creative and proaktif to find new strategy which capable to give optimal contribution for attainment of company target as according to vision PT. Informatika Lintasnusa that is “Serving The Community With The Right Technology Produc, Services and Smart Solution”. In This Case PT. ILN own system of payroll and human resource still manual, so that be required by a automatization system or a kind of software supporter to increase performansi work for the shake of making headway which signifikan in execution process business.

The web system represent repair process develop, builded business to assist company in minimation of lay time (delay), minimation of paper work and improve performance an officer PT. ILN. Making of web system of payroll and human resource PT. ILN represent useful and technological effort optimalitation the effort quality improvement. This matter will induce to two matter, that is : make easier for monetary division in operation related data and the increasing of quality work officer PT.ILN Related dicipliner.

With making of this web system, user earn easily access accepted salary detail. This application easy to be run by user, because it designed by considering aspect of psychology user.

Key Word : Payroll System, Application Form, Web Design.