

ABSTRACT

REDESIGN INTERIOR OF BUDI PERTIWI NURSING HOME BANDUNG

Ritirement home is a place that accommodate the elders who are entrusted by their family or those whose been left by their family. Ritirement home is expected to be a place or a home that can support the activities of the elders. The elders that being entrusted or being left by their family and stay in the ritirement home definitely have the same psychology. As the place for the elders to stay, this ritirement home should support those psychological factors and surely applicable in designing. Designing a ritirement home could considers these psychological factors so that it could support the elders' activities. Beside that, by making a good design of this ritirement home, the elders could live and socialize well with other elders.

In reality, most of construction and implementation of this ritirement home could not support or somehow underestimate the need of good design for the ritirement home so that it becomes an issue that is considered interesting to be discussed. By promoting this phenomenon, the public or the ritirement home managers can take care of the management problem and design of a good ritirement home, so that it could support the activities and psychology of the elders.

Keywords: elders activity, elders psychology, ritirement home, ritirement home designe