All of these methods are used to obtain data that is useful during the process of designing city brand of Manado City tourism and its implementation on promotional media. The design carried a tagline “Manado, beauty everywhere” to show the beauty of Manado City that can be found anywhere through its natural attractions (ecotourism). City brand used distinctive icon and other visual objects that describe natural conditions of Manado City. Implementation of this city brand is carried out on various supporting promotional media. It is expected that this city brand can support Manado discourse as a tourism destination city and increase tourist visits.
