

ABSTRACT

Web-Based Application for Employee Income and Attendance using RFID. Employee must receive salary payments accurately and on time, it will affect the level of productivity and employee loyalty to the company. This application is needed by a home industry named Butik Malla Ramdani that has a lot of employees but still uses the manual calculation and record-keeping of salaries and wages. This application is reduces to being errors in calculating employee salaries and wages that can simplify human activities. In this application, presence recording is done using RFID, user do not need to input data manually. This application resulting General Journal, Ledger, Payroll Report, and Wages Report. This application is made by using the object-oriented programming techniques with CodeIgniter Framework Implementation, using MySQL Database, and using Unified Modeling Language (UML) for the system design. This system uses manual testing, application testing and functionality testing

Keywords: Application, Journal, Ledger, Payroll Report, Wages Report