

ABSTRACT

In the interactions that exist between each individual or group, there are various aspects that can accommodate them. One of the most influential aspects is the presence of a space. On the presentation of space itself, the different topics are in various fields of science and it seems difficult to broadly define its understanding. However, the space referred to by the author is a place and scope that is formed indirectly sociologically by the order of the group / community itself. The first place the presence of a room before it merges or intersects with other elements and then makes a dynamic is a place to live, can be defined as a house, road, building, forest, and others. Small events that occur therein to individuals / groups become an important role in the occurrence of a dynamic. The author takes part in feeling this as an individual, because events that occur at the author's own residence, at least can represent a small representation of a dynamic social space. Also, the writer tries to visualize it through paintings and found objects through the exploration of several mediums.

Keywords: home, social space, society, social dynamics, found objects, paintings.
