

ABSTRACT

Indonesia is a democratic country in which the government Government of the people, by the people, for the people. With this the people have the right to express their aspirations to the government. One way to express aspirations openly is by demonstration. These demonstrations are usually followed by tens, hundreds or even thousands of people. Because of a lot demonstrators who descended the streets, it will be directly proportional to the garbage produced. This garbage fills the road, the sidewalk and the gutter. This garbage that is released must be immediately removed by the sanitation department. Of the problems that exist the writer of the vacuum product needs to be taken specifically the sewage trash that has been achieved.
