

ABSTRACT

Orchid has the Latin name Orchidaceae, which is a flowering plant that has very many members or species. Many people like to orchid orchids but don't know how to keep them away from disturbing pests. So that makes this beautiful plant die quickly and easily. So we need a visual media that supports and helps people who are already farming but have not yet figured out how to get rid of the pests that exist in orchids. This design uses a questionnaire research method and interviews. And the results of the design will be in the form of a guidebook that helps people repel pests in orchids.
