ABSTRACT

Tourism is a travel activity for both individuals and groups to a certain place to get experience outside of their daily activities. In the city of Bandung has many culinary places that make a lot of the general public come to the city of Bandung for a variety of food. The purpose of this research is to make it easier for the general public to choose a culinary place in the city of Bandung.

The application made will contain information about tourist attractions and culinary places in the city of Bandung, by displaying the price of each culinary food equipped with pictures. Information about culinary places will make it easier for people to determine the purpose of looking for culinary food. Because price and address information is displayed clearly, it makes it easier for people to determine where to eat culinary.

This application is able to provide information about tourist attractions, culinary foods in Bandung and show location addresses on a map. By using this application, users can find out about tourist attractions and culinary foods in Bandung with better presentation. Based on a survey that has been conducted, 80% of users find it very easy to have an application like this and ≥50% of users strongly agree with the design and implementation of this application.

Keywords*: Tours, Culinary, Prices, Application*