

ABSTRACT

Card holder wallet or card wallet is an accessory that is often used as a substitute for conventional wallets. Card wallets are usually simpler than conventional wallets with the main function of being a compartment for frequently used cards. In general, wallets are used as a place to store sharing needs related to transactions, in today's era it seems that many people have started turning to non-cash transactions so that conventional wallets are rarely used. Streetwear style originated from the clothing styles used by extreme sports players in the 70s, and the brands that popularized this style were Stussy and Supreme, a hallmark of Streetwear style, namely clothes that are not formal or what we call casual clothes combined with several supporting accessories so that it seems to have a certain style, at first glance this style is like everyday clothes but a little more complex. The waste of polyester material produced by the bag industri in Indonesia can reach 1 to 3 tons per year in each large-scale factory, so a way is needed to make this material not wasted and just become garbage. In this design the research method used is a qualitative method to determine some product parameters. To carry out this design, the analysis that will be carried out includes material and aesthetic aspects. The results of this design are expected to meet user needs.
