Papua has natural beauty that has not been fully exposed, so far only the Raja Ampat Islands in Sorong, West Papua, are exposed and also the Bosnik Beach in Biak Numfor. There are tourist objects that have the potential not to be recognized by the community around the tourist attraction itself, for example in Jayapura Regency, which is divided into several districts within it, one of which is Depapre District. The district is located about 27 km from the capital city of Jayapura Regency, namely Sentani Kota, which is the air entrance for Jayapura City and Regency. The tourism objects in Depapre District are not yet fully known by the wider community and there is also no official information media from the Tourism and Culture of Jayapura Regency. Through the methods of observation, interviews, literature study and questionnaires, the authors found that an information medium in the form of a photography book was needed. It is hoped that the photography book can provide information about tourist objects in Depapre District, Jayapura Regency.
