

ABSTRACT

Everyone has their own fear of something. Fear is basically the formation of a memory in the brain that recognizes that something is dangerous or commonly referred to as horror. It can also appear in an indirect or representative form that draws from an object, subject, or situation that creates an atmosphere of horror. The use of media such as pictures or videos is a form that can be applied in raising one's fear. The final project with the title "Haunted Technology In The Short Film Serial Title Phasmo" aims to create fear in the audience in the form of a short film. The application of the story is made relevant to real life such as the use of ghosts, mystical, or supernatural which many people still experience.
