

GLOSSARIUM

| Term            | Description                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-----------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| HFE      | Human Factors and Ergonomics, a study of the interactions between people and technology and the factors that affect the interactions.                                                                                                 |
| NASA-TLX | National Aeronautics and Administration Task Load Index, a method that is used for measuring the workload that is have been through by a worker in one activity for its job from the viewpoint of the person who provided the rating. |