

ABSTRACT

Since the Covid 19 infection spread around the world in 2020, the infection has influenced nearly each angle of people's lives in Indonesia. From the economy, society, and instruction. Understudies are taking online classes without knowing when they will come back to school or college. Numerous understudies got to be segregated from society and had social withdrawal. This inquire about points to investigate the wonder of social separation caused by the COVID-19 widespread, particularly in young people and youthful grown-ups and how this marvel can be utilized as a premise for creating a brief film as a last extend. Through a a few information collection strategy such as writing audit, perceptions, surveys and investigation from the references of a few comparable works, this inquire about looks for to distinguish that the widespread has caused exceptional changes in young people and youthful grown-up social lives, with limitations such as lockdowns and social separating activating self-isolation and profound sentiments of depression. Based on the information that will be gotten, the creator extreme to deliver a brief film that portrays in detail the enthusiastic encounters of youngsters and youthful grown-ups amid social confinement, investigating sentiments of forlornness, stresses almost long haul, and their endeavors to discover human associations in troublesome circumstances. In this way, this inquire about not as it were points to get it the psychological impact of social confinement on young people, but too to create a creative work within the frame of a anecdotal dramatization brain research brief film containing a story to extend our understanding of their encounters amid the COVID-19 widespread.

Keywords: Adolescent, Loneliness, Self Isolation, Short Film, Social Life