“Final Project: Creative Arts Study Program, Faculty of Creative Industries, Telkom University”

Everyone must have memories, whether they are good or bad. But what happens when someone has bad memories that keep coming back to them? Especially if the bad memories come from a closer environment such as family, such as parental divorce. Of course, the bad memories you have will continue to be felt deeper and become anxiety. This is the idea of the final painting work "Recall Memory, Representing the Feeling of Loss, Separation from Parents in Paintings Mix Media". This work is a method of recalling feelings of loss to express and process emotions on two canvases. With this work, it becomes a medium or container for pouring out one's feelings and delving deeper into the sense of loss that occurs due to the separation of parents, by pouring out emotions and personal experiences into a visual medium, it can process the pent-up grief. This work is not just a visual representation of personal experience, but also an invitation for readers to reflect and perhaps find self-reflection in the complex process of human experience.

Key Words: recall memory, memories, feeling of loss, mix media painting, surrealis.
