

ABSTRACT

Internet is on one of the most used technology this day. Internet develops really quickly because it gives many advantages for its user. By using internet user can look for information quickly from many sources. Internet user also can learn from e-learning application. By using e-learning user can learn at any place as long as it has internet service. User does not need to pay to use e-learning, so it is really profitable.

E-learning for English I and English II has various features, such as explanation about lessons that correspond with IT Telkom curriculum and assignment that given by lecture online. Question will appear randomly, and after students fulfill the assignment score will appear automatically. As for writing and speaking menu, score will be given by lectures.

With the making of e-learning for English I and English II it is expected that students be more fluent in using English. Besides, it is also expected that lecture will be easier in giving assignment for student and student also easier in fulfill the assignment.

Keyword : e-learning, English, website, voice recording