

ABSTRACT

Sandhy Putra Senior High School is one of Senior High School which have an effort to make Indonesia young generation. This School has a complicated business process, especially in its academical process. So that, Sandhy Putra needs a media information for publishing its school to common people about its academical system and its information system.

Therefore, this final project is which is entitled “Academic Information System Based on Web of Sandhy Putra Senior High School Bandung” is one of media that is managing and saving academic in Sandhy Putra Senior High School. The data are including student data management, staff data management, lesson schedule management, student mark report, notes for staff, and students absence and many component to support this aplication.

The last project are built with used software engineering method is waterfall, and for implementation use PHP programming language, and for processing of database use MySQL.

Key word : academic information system based on web.