

ABSTRACT

Restaurant or Cafe requires an application in order to improve work efficiency, effective, reliable, and stay up to date on all kinds of information and data processing support for the smooth transaction activities bookings and to make the place into a modern dining area and able to handle the activity cycle occurred in transaction activity and is able to provide an accurate report. Final project entitled "Generic Application Menu and Booking Foods Android-Based (Case Study: Cafe Madtari Bandung)" has the capability in terms of handling transactions such as ordering food, menu data processing, as well as view reports on sales results Madtari café. This application is a web-based service is divided into two parts: the client-based android, and the server-based Java desktop. Network connection is required to connect the two applications. Final Project Application is made with a view to overcome the problems that had occurred in the transaction or booking the previous menu, in which these transactions in the cafe Madtari and can be used as well as possible at a later date.

Keywords : android, web service, java